

BLOOD RAVENS

Codex: Blood Ravens

By George Neale

Blood Raven Army Rules:

Knowledge is Power:

The Blood Ravens will often study enemy movements and dispositions for long periods before engaging; an ideology dating back to the saving of the chapter in the early days of the Great Father; Azariah Vidya. To this end, all models in a Blood Ravens army lose the Combat Tactics special rule. This is replaced by the following rule:

At deployment, the Blood Ravens will always deploy second, even if they have picked the deployment zone and will subsequently take the first turn.

Combined sight:

The librarians of the Blood Ravens is gifted with enough power and knowledge that he can see what others cannot, to the smallest movement in the shadows to the massed movement of an advancing army. When such powerful beings are around each other they can see further into the warp and have more control with another librarian by their side.

If a librarian is attempting to use a psychic power in range of shadow in the warp and there is another friendly librarian within 6" then the effect of shadow in the warp has no effect.

Librarium Support:

Due to the high concentration of Librarians within the Blood Ravens Chapter, it is unusual for a deployment of any significant size to take to the field without the support and counsel of at least one their number.

To this end, a Blood Ravens Army must include at least one Librarian as an HQ choice; this can be one of the special characters. However, after the first Librarian, a Blood Ravens army may select any number of other librarians (these can be special characters) without taking up any space on the Force Organisation chart (though they count as an HQ choice for all other purposes). Librarians forming part of the Librarium Aspirants Squad DO NOT count towards this minimum.

Special Rules:

Latent Pysker:

The concentration of psychic abilities within the chapter, and subsequently the size of the chapter librarium, has been well documented; it is the cause of much speculation. Many senior Blood Ravens have been known to exhibit psychic potential, even when outside the librarium. While this is strongly discouraged, at moments of great importance, these powers can subconsciously come to the fore.

A model with this special rule may use it once per battle. At the beginning of the movement phase, they may take a psychic test, which may be re-rolled if a friendly librarian is within 6 inches. If failed, then the moment has passed and this may not be used. If passed, then that model may re-roll any failed rolls to hit and/or to wound in Close Combat and may force the opponent to re-roll any successful armour or invulnerable save against wounds caused by that model. Note that Perils of the Warp attacks may be suffered as normal from the psychic test. Models with this special rule do not count as Psykers, unless specifically stated.

Librarian Powers:

Foresight of Understanding:

As a member of the Librarium, the Librarian is responsible for maintaining the chapter records and for studying the artefacts of the chapter. This knowledge can be accessed by a skilful librarian via a psychic link, even in the heat of battle.

At the beginning of the shooting phase The Librarian may either:

- Select one friendly unit (including vehicles) within 6 inches; this unit may re-roll any failed rolls to hit for the remained of that shooting phase provided that the Librarian passes a psychic test.*
- Or*
- Select one enemy unit (including vehicles and Monstrous creatures etc) within 24 inches; any friendly unit attacking this enemy unit in either the shooting phase or the assault phase of that player turn may re-roll any failed rolls to wound, provided that the Librarian passes a psychic test.*

The Ravens beak:

The mighty form of a raven is conjured forth and propelled across the battlefield spearing any enemy on its beak before vanishing into the warp.

This power is a psychic shooting attack. Extend a straight line, 4D6" long, from the Librarian's base in any direction - this is the path taken by the Ravens Beak. Any enemy unit in the Ravens path suffers a single Strength 8, AP 1 hit with the 'lance' type. Friendly units and enemy units locked in close combat, are unaffected - the lance darts over them before continuing on its course.

Wings of the Raven:

Two black wings sprout from the librarian's back, allowing him to soar over the battle field.

This power is used in the librarian's Movement phase and lasts for the rest of the turn. It allows the Librarian to move as if he had a jump pack. A Librarian riding a bike that uses the Wings of the Raven moves as if he was riding a Jet bike.

Smite:

Lethal bolts of lightning leap from the librarian's fingertips, tearing his enemies apart in a barrage of power.

This power is a psychic shooting attack and has the following profile

Range	Strength	AP	Type
12"	4	2	Assault 4

Force Dome:

Reaching out with his mind, the librarian erects a barrier of shimmering force around himself and his companions.

This power is used at the start of the librarians movement phase. The librarian and any unit he is with receive a 5+ invulnerable save until the next turn.

The Secret Order of Psykana

Within the Librarians of the Blood Ravens is a secret order of librarians and pyskers that was formed by the great father Azariah Vidya and whose purpose has been lost over the millennia. They are charged with the custody of the Beacon Psykana whose power can be called on in times of great need. A librarian who has this trait and has only one wound remaining can call forth the power of the beacon and may use this power in one of two ways. (this cannot be chosen as a physic power)

1. The librarian gains a 3+ invulnerability save for that round with a reroll if failed
2. The Librarian has a psychic shooting attack that has the following profile

Range	Template	Strength	X	AP	2	Heavy 1

This attack always wounds on a roll of 2+ and on a roll of 6 causes instant death to the victim regardless of toughness value. On vehicles this attack causes a glancing blow on rolls of 3 and 4 and penetrating blow on rolls of 5 and 6. This trait can only be used once per battle even if more than one librarian has this trait.

Father Librarian

Blood Ravens claim some of the most powerful librarians in the entire Imperium and the most powerful are the venerated father Librarians

Their knowledge of the psychic arts is so immense that they may pick 3 librarian powers at the start of battle (but still only use 2 per turn)

And their training and mental fortitude is such that they receive a 5+ invulnerability save when suffering from a perils of the warp attack (this is increased to 4+ if force dome is in affect).

(This trait may only be taken by librarians that are to be used as an HQ choice even if they do not take up force organisation)

Wargear

Target Designator:

This is a device usually mounted onto the sights of a weapon carried by those with forward observer roles. It is linked to the targeting systems of nearby vehicles and artillery.

In the shooting phase, if an ordinance weapon is fired at a target upon which model with a Target Designator has also fired (in that same shooting phase), then the Blood Raven player may re-roll the scatter and distance dice for the ordinance shot. The second result stands.

Forces of the Blood Ravens

Special Characters:

Chapter Master and Chief Librarian Kyras

Relatively little is known of the current leader of the Blood Ravens Space Marine Chapter. What is known is that 1,000 years before the Black Legion's invasion of subsector Aurelia, planet Aurelia disappeared during a Warp Storm after being pushed sufficiently out of orbit for the planet to be covered with glaciers and almost the whole population killed. Just before the planet was taken by the Warp, Librarian Kyras managed to imprison a wounded Great Unclean One of Nurgle by the name of Ulkair, after his master Moriah was killed fighting it. Soon after, the Warp took the planet and Azariah Kyras with it.

Kyras eventually returned some centuries later, appearing inexplicably before the battered elements of the Blood Ravens 5th Company aboard a space hulk called the Judgment of Carrion. Kyras aided Apothecary Galan, the leader of the expedition, in fighting the daemons and Tyranids infesting the hulk. Though the Space Marines had found a lost Battle-Brother, they were still marooned, unable to escape. Their "exits sealed, and beacons failed," Galan and his Marines were given to despair. Galan was haunted by a daemoniac presence, which was given name when Kyras regaled the other survivors with his tale of losses endured by their Chapter in imprisoning Ulkair. The daemon reached out from his imprisonment within the Warp-swallowed world of Aurelia, tormenting the Blood Ravens and hungering for their gene-seed. Kyras did nothing to hinder the defeatist mood, and spread the taint of Chaos into his brothers instead. Eventually Kyras made a pact with Ulkair for their release from the Judgment of Carrion, which required that Galan be possessed by a daemon of the Warp.

Both Galan and Kyras escaped the Judgment of Carrion, and Kyras' return was hailed as a blessing by elements of the Blood Ravens, but not the Captain of the 3rd Company, Gabriel Angelos. Sometime thereafter, Kyras rose to the ranks of both Chief Librarian and Chapter Master. Galan was stationed as an Apothecary within the Honour Guard.

Special Rules:

Master Pysker: Possessed of a psychic ability that matches even the most gifted being in the universe, Kyras is power in the Warp. Much of this comes from the combined force of the ruling council of Blood Ravens however, rather than from Kyras himself. The psychic link between him and fellow Blood Ravens equips him with Knowledge that would drive a mere mortal to insanity. Kyras is treated as knowing all psychic powers available to a Blood Raven Librarian.

Foresight: The access to such knowledge through psychic link has many advantages; not least the power to decipher the flows of the warp and the natural universe in one's midst.

A Blood Raven force containing Kyras may roll 2 dice and pick the highest when 'dicing-off' to see which player will pick deployment zones. He may also force an opposing player to re-roll a successful seize the initiative roll.

Taint Unknown: It has been seen by some, especially those that beat back the forces of chaos in the second Aureila campaign, that the chapter master has sold his soul to chaos. Gabriel Angelos has seen it as his personal duty to destroy the rot steaming from the heart of the chapter, along with Davian Thule and Captain Apollo Diomedees.

Kyras has +1 strength and +1 toughness (already included in profile). An army that includes Kyras cannot include Gabriel Angelos, Davian Thule or Apollo Diomedees.

Wargear:

Mercurial Helm: This artefact was a gift from the Eldar of Iyanden in an age long since passed. It has the power to allow the user great exposure to the warp, whilst maintaining a modicum of safety.

It confers a straight 3+ save against perils of the Warp attacks and any psychic powers.

Raven Familiar: The Chief Librarian of the Blood Ravens is always accompanied by a Raven, with which he is in total harmony. The Raven gives him a great perspective in battle and allows him to channel psychic energy.

Kyras may cast up to 3 Psychic powers per turn.

Minerva: A relic carried by the Great Father, Azariah Vidya himself. It is a mighty staff of unfathomable artificial skill.

Counts as Master Crafted Force weapon with digital weapons.

Captain Gabriel Angelos

Like many of the Blood Ravens, Gabriel was born on the planet of Cyrene, where the Chapter often drew recruits from. Gabriel was an accomplished leader of his peers before he even entered his teen years, and passed the Blood Trials set by the Blood Raven Chaplains.

Many years later, with an entire company of Blood Ravens under his command, Gabriel returned to Cyrene, to preside over the Blood Trials and recruit new members into the Chapter. But Gabriel found something very wrong during the trials, and cut them short. He quickly returned to his strike cruiser, and sent a coded signal out of the system. Within months of the signal, ships of the Inquisition and the Imperial Navy appeared over Cyrene, executing an Exterminatus bombarding it for a week straight until nothing on the planet remained alive. All records of the incident, and Gabriel's message to the Inquisition, have been sealed, but Gabriel himself carries the guilt of his actions with him to this day, particularly during the battles on the planet Tartarus.

It was on Tartarus that Gabriel was to undergo the true tests of his limits, as he had to both stall an unstoppable Ork invasion long enough to evacuate the planet, while simultaneously seeking out and eradicating the Chaos Alpha Legion forces on the planet, led by Lord Bale and Sindri Myr. The Chaos forces were searching for an ancient artefact called the Maledictum, and the sorcerer Sindri managed to corrupt the chapter Librarian Isador Akios into betraying the Blood Ravens. Gabriel, haunted by his guilty conscience, nonetheless executed Isador for heresy and went on to lead the Blood Ravens against Chaos. He slew Lord Bale in a duel and eventually helped defeat Sindri when he used the Maledictum to become a Daemon Prince. However, Gabriel destroyed the Maledictum after the battle, thinking to eradicate the Chaos threat, but instead released a great warp daemon from its prison, as foreseen by Farseer Macha who had aided in fighting the daemon. Farseer Macha had warned him not to destroy the Maledictum but he had proceeded to smash it with the God-Splitter. He escaped Tartarus before the ensuing warp storm trapped him there, and has vowed to defeat the new Chaos threat he himself unleashed.

Shortly after, he travelled to the world of Rahe's Paradise, where he attempts to conduct the Blood Trials. At first all seemed routine, but soon after the discovery of an ancient Eldar tablet, all hell broke loose. Eldar Rangers conducted multiple hit-and-run attacks focusing exclusively on the psykers of the chapter and the potential psykers among the Trial aspirants, and the Gabriel met with Farseer Macha once more. She revealed that they had killed the psykers to prevent the breaking of Lsantril's Shield; a device that gave the illusion of a large Eldar psychic presence on the planet. This prevented the awakening of the Necrons hidden under the surface of the planet, as they would slumber as long as they believed that their ancient foes dominated the galaxy still. All was not lost; however, until a space battle destroyed the Spirit Pool of the Dark Reaper aspect, the psychic scream of the lost souls shattered Lsantril's Shield and awakened the Necrons. Gabriel ordered the destruction of the planet, and left for the threatened planet of Lorn V with the surviving aspirants.

When he arrived at Lorn V, he made contact with the single Eldar survivor of the battle, Farseer Taldeer, who had been asking for him since teleporting to the Battle Barge Litany of Fury. Ignoring accusations of heresy levelled against him by Captain Ulantis of the Ninth Company, she convinced Angelos to allow her to take him and a small squad of Blood Ravens to a rip in the webway, made by the Librarian Rhamah during an attempt to reach the world of law, Arcadia, and find the last Blade of Vault, in order that it might be used to against the waking Necrons. On the planet, he was given the blade by the Eldar Harlequins following a battle with the Prodigal Sons of Ahriman and Ahriman himself; which he gave to Macha upon returning to Lorn V. With the last Blade of Vault, Macha destroyed the Necrons completely, but was not heard from or seen afterwards. Gabriel then continued his command of Captain of the Watch. Gabriel seems to have a mysterious bond with the Eldar of Biel-Tan, particularly that of Farseer Macha. Despite the condemnation and even threats from his fellow commanders, the Inquisition, Adepta Sororitas, and even from his own friend Isador Akios, Gabriel was stubborn in his attempts to assist the Eldar and Macha. The Harlequins of Arcadia referred to him as "Gabriel of the Hidden Heart," and that he was seen as a symbol of hope for the Eldar in the form of a human.

Gabriel Angelos is an enigmatic leader, with what many in the chapter, and whom have served with him believe is considerable untapped psychic potential. He already has the heir of Chapter Master designate, though the apparent disregard for the counsel of others may be viewed with suspicion. In either case,

Captain Gabriel Angelos is regarded by many in the Chapter as the most Powerful of the Blood Ravens.

Wargear:

God-Splitter: A gift to the Chapter and Gabriel Angelos specifically for the inquisition during the Tartarus Campaign. This Mighty weapon has a small part of the essence of the Ordo Malleus trapped within it; it erupts into life when in battle against the forces of the daemonic realm.

Counts as a Master Crafted Thunder Hammer. In addition, it allows the bearer to strike in initiative order (rather than at 11) against any target from Codex: Daemons, against any model wielding a daemonic weapon and against summoned Greater & Lesser daemons from Codex: Chaos Space Marines.

Raven Mantle: A chapter relic from a captain of the 3rd company long since passed. It provides the wearer with an almost supernatural defence against enemy attacks.

This item confers a 3+ invulnerable save.

Captain Davian Thule

Captain Thule commanded the Kronus campaign and personally planted the bomb which ended the Necron threat to the planet at the Plateau of Thur'Abis. He is regarded with awe by all those who serve under him, and his energy, fighting spirit and precision are legendary amongst the chapter's battle brothers.

He has been known to adopt unusual equipment during protracted campaigns, but this eccentricity combined with the example of his personal leadership and achievements command respect. He also has a reputation for only committing the Blood Ravens to battle in the correct circumstances, or when no other option is available. An emerging legend to the chapter, his authority is supervised only by that of Gabriel Angelos when commanding Blood Ravens in battle.

During the Aureila campaign however, Davian Thule was incapacitated by a Tyranid Prime warrior. After the original strike force had obtained a pure sample of the Tyranid bio-toxin, Thule was restored to the battle field as a mighty dreadnought so he could continue to crush the enemies of the imperium. A living relic and a mere shadow of his former self he is protected as much as the Blood Ravens protect their knowledge so that no more of their history may be lost.

Special Rules:

Rights of Battle: Such is the leadership and inspiration that Captain Thule provides; all whom serve under him will gladly give their lives in his cause; for they know it will be both worthy and necessary.

All units in a Blood Raven army use his leadership (of 10) for ALL leadership based tests while he is on the table.

Wargear:

Azariah's Vengeance: This Assault Cannon has been consecrated by the Chapters Librarium. It is said that some small part of the knowledge of the Great Father flows through it; guiding its bolts and imbuing them with his fervour.

Counts as an Assault cannon that may fire in one of 2 modes:

Range	Strength	AP	Type
24"	5	3	Heavy 6

36''	6	2	Heavy 4

Captain Apollo Diomedes

Apollo Diomedes is the Captain of the Blood Ravens Honour Guard. Previously, he commanded the First Company for almost two centuries.

Diomedes' most famous victory came on the ravaged penal world of Obscurus. On the same day, he and his brothers defeated the Ork Warboss Manstompa Megakilla and the Chaos Sorcerer Anuphans the Cruel. After that victory Diomedes was elevated to the command of the Chapter Master's own honour guard, becoming Azariah Kyras' most public agent among the Chapter's far-flung battle brothers.

Although not corrupted himself, he, acting under orders from Azariah Kyras, aided the heretical Apothecary Galan in opposing the efforts of an unnamed Force Commander, who had been declared a renegade, to destroy Galan's Stronghold. What happened to him after Galan's Stronghold fell is unknown. Some reports suggest that upon the stronghold's destruction, he was executed by the Commander's Devastator Marine Sergeant, Brother Avitus, for indirectly aiding the Black Legion. Other reports suggest that he was spared, and that having been made aware of the corruption around him, joined Gabriel's crusade against the 'rot in the chapter' after Ulkair's banishment on Aurelia.

Special Rules

To the depths of the warp if I must! : When pursuing a unit from combat, Apollo Diomedes rolls an extra D6.

The Will of the Chapter: Diomedes is given his orders by Chapter Master Kyras and answers to no one else. Such is his resolve to follow the orders of the chapter master he will stop at nothing to execute them.

When deep striking, Apollo Diomedes and the unit he is with will not scatter.

Wargear

Fists of the first company: These are a pair of mastercrafted lightning claws that always wound on 4+ regardless of the opponents toughness.

Archarius Ravenholm: High Father Librarian

The Blood Ravens is run by a secret council of Captains, Librarians and Chaplains that are only known to each other. The public face of the Chapter though is High Father Ravenholm. A man who served as head of the arcania battle group he is well aware of the dangers of the warp and what it can do to people's minds as such he focus a great deal on training the new librarians against the perils of the warp which seems to be working as the last century saw the fewest number of fail aspirants being sent to the tower that any of the most venerable dreadnaughts can recall.

One of the most potent psykers in the Imperium he wields the power of the warp at levels only seen by the great Mepheston and Tigerus and some even dear to whisper that his power is greatest of all living librarians. Though many scoff at the idea those that have seen him on the battlefield may feel that these claims are not exaggerated.

Special Rules

Master Psyker: Few can rival Ravenholm's knowledge of the psychic arts and as such he knows all the librarian powers

Gathering Intelligence: Ravenholm's mind is such that there are few that can resist his probing especially in the heat of battle and most find it distracting feeling such a powerful mind probing their thoughts. With this Ravenholm gains an idea of what his attack is about to do before they strike and is able to defend himself.

Ravenholm and any unit he is with have the Counter-attack special rule and models that attack him or his unit suffer -1 and must reroll successful hits. Models that have saves against versus psychic powers ignore this trait.

Their souls will remain pure: As the Chief Librarian Ravenholm knows the long and dangerous road to becoming a librarian and trained many of the most powerful Librarians in the chapter as such all librarians on the field gain 5+ invulnerability save when suffering from a perils of the warp attack and father librarians gain a 4+ invulnerability save.

Wargear:

Vidya Blade: This legendary blade was once said to be wielded by the great father himself as such it counts as a master crafted force weapon

Helm of Warding: Legend has it that the young Blood Ravens chapter fought side by side with the Eldar on a forgotten planet against the forces of chaos. The Eldar were both impressed and unnerved by the power of the Blood Ravens Librarians and felt that if one was ever to fall to chaos then it would be a dark day for everyone as such the farseer of the Eldar had crafted a ghosthelm to protect the most powerful psyker from the creatures of the warp.

If Ravenholm suffers a perils of the warp attack he may re-roll his invulnerable save.

Father Librarian Michael Donel: The Angel of War

Father Donel was born on the world of Rahe's Paradise to a pious but brutal tribe on the western fringes. He participated in the second to last Blood Trials of Rahe's Paradise before Brother Captain Angelos ordered the exterminates because of the necron infestation below the planet.

Donel was known for being a brutal uncompromising fighter but also a person that was diligent to his praises of the Emperor and the great father. Were his psychic talents were not discovered it could have been that Donel would have been a Chaplain instead. After his scout training was done Donel was inducted into the Librarium and was apprenticed to none other than the Ravenholm himself. It was during a demonic incursion on Peltestua and fighting alongside the Ordo Malleus and the Grey Knights that his hatred and force of will against the forces of chaos that the Ordo Malleus offered Donel specialist training to fight the eternal enemy making him only the 84th librarian to have specialist training in dealing with demons by the Ordo Malleus.

What happened for the 25 years that he trained with the Ordo Malleus no one knows and he will not speak of it, but his return was legendary for the 2nd and 6th companies of the Blood Ravens were fighting and the battle scared plains of Kershnecc and were in danger of being overrun when a ship entered orbit and launched a drop pod, but the drop pod was damaged on its decent and ended up landing in the heart of the demonic horde. It was said that a beam of silver light was unleashed from where the drop pod crash and the Daemons began to recoil from the site in horror and some burst into flame and went back to the warp. With this sudden distraction the Blood Ravens launched a devastating counter attack and pushed the demons back their amazement they saw that the crash site held 3 grey knights and Brother Donel their presence an athema to the daemons.

After rejoining his brothers was inducted into the Demonia battle squad and has unrelentingly hunted daemons for the past 200 years. Apparently his name is screamed as a curse in the warp.

Radiant Aura: Donel's psychic aura has been changed by the ordo malleus and is now difficult for daemons to keep hold of their physical presence on the material realm.

All daemons within 12" of are no longer fearless.

Daemonslayer: Father Donel's hatred for Daemons is legendary.

He gains the Furious Charge trait when facing Chaos Space Marines or Chaos Daemon Armies.

Pysker powers: As a Father Librarian, Donel can choose three psychic powers to take into battle one of these has to be Angelic wings and can either pick a power from the Librarian powers or roll for a unique power from the list below. (If these powers are chosen he may re-roll any failed attempts to cast them, however, if he suffers a perils of the warp attack from the first result he must pass his invulnerable save if he wishes to attempt the power again, this re-roll does not count towards the number of powers he can use a turn.)

Angelic wings: When this power is called upon a pair of wings composed of the purist light spread from the librarian's shoulders and allows him to fly across the battle field and unleash his fury upon his enemies. The Librarian now acts as though he has a jet pack.

Dice roll	Power
1- 2	Banish: During the battle Donel screams the rites of exorcism causing all Daemons within a base contact to roll a D6 and add it to their leadership, if Donel rolls a higher result then the daemons are removed from play, with no saves of any kind allowed.
3- 4	Fury: Little can scare is anything can scare a daemon but Donel's fury can be so great that it manifests itself into a blinding halo. At the start of the assault round all enemy units that are in contact with Donel suffer -2 WS and Daemons suffer another -1 LD till the end of the round
5-6	And They Shall live on: All friendly units within 6" of Donel gain Feel No Pain and Eternal Warrior traits till the next round

Wargear:

Deamonsbane: A powerful weapon that is rightly feared by the denizens of the warp. It is a mastercrafted force sword which causes wounds to daemons on +2 and gives Donel +1 S (already added)

Father Librarian Xavier Nilrem: Master of the Arcania, Keeper of the Wards

Father Nilrem was born to the Hive nobles of Crathia's world and was known for having a prodigious thirst for knowledge. It was lucky then that he was able to be inducted into the Blood Ravens the most scholarly of all the Space Marines. Fate also smiled to discover that he had a flicker of the warp in his soul which was discovered when he was able to hit his target with his sniper rifle even when he couldn't see his target.

Nilrem was known for being a behind the scenes librarian and was highly skilled at coordinating battles from bases deep behind enemy lines and deciding on where to launch offenses and artillery strikes, but Nilrem was no coward we would be willing to enter battle but preferred to duel with pistols rather than swords as he felt it was far more civilized.

Nilrem was soon inducted into the Arcania battle squad and soon learnt the terrible truths of sorcery and continues to help and advise the High Father when he is able to.

Special Rules:

Spell Slinger: When making using a psychic shooting attack Nilrem's BS rises to 6

Warded Mind: Nilrem has faced many powerful pyskers over his long life and has developed powerful wards in his mind to defend against their foul sorcery. Nilrem has a 5+ invulnerability save when being attacked by psychic powers.

Psyker Powers: Being a father librarian may learn up to 3 psychic powers but still only use 2 per turn. Nilrem can either pick from the Space Marines Librarian powers list or my roll a D6 to choose the powers below if you already roll a power you already have then reroll till you have a new power.

Dice roll	Power
1	Enemy Unseen: Nilrem reaches out with his mind and prevents the enemy from shooting. Nilrem Picks a unit or a vehicle within 24" and each player rolls D6 to their leadership score (Vehicles count as having LD10) if Nilrem succeeds then that unit or vehicle cannot shoot for till the next turn if the enemy has a higher score then he only suffers -1BS for that round
2	Searing Light : Nilrem focus's his will into the Staff of the Great Father and unleashes it as a single beam of light with the following profile: Range: Strength: AP: 2 Heavy 1, Lance 24" 6
3	The Emperor Protects: Nilrem opens his mind to the warp and conjures a psychic mist to help hide his comrades all friendly units within 8" of Nilrem gain a +5 cover save. Units already in cover receive +1 to their cover saves.
4	They Shall Pay For Every Step: All enemy models within 24" move as though they were going though difficult and dangerous terrain, vehicles count as moving through dangerous terrain.
5	Call down the Emperors Wrath: Nilrem speaks ancient words of power and strikes random enemy units that are 18" from Nilrem with the following shooting profile:

	Range: 18" Strength: D6+2 AP: D3 Assault D6
6	Heroes of old: When the enemy is close Nilrem helps push his allies' bodies and courage so that they fight like the heroes of the ancient tales. All friendly units within 6" of Nilrem gain the Fearless trait and gain +1S and +1T till the end of the round

Wargear:

Warp breaker: With their ancient brotherhood to the Grey Knights and the Ordo Malleus the Blood Ravens gain access to powerful tools to battle the forces of chaos and example of this is the ancient storm bolter Warp Breaker that was apparently forged for one of the Wolf Lords when they were sent to attack Prospero and fell in battle and ended up in the hand of the Custodian Guard who gave it to the Inquisition.

Warp Breaker is a beautiful stormbolter which fires special psybolts that ignore invulnerable saves.

Staff of the Great Father: This powerful force weapon protects the user from extended period of draining from the warp and so can be used to unleash an extra psychic power per turn.

Librarian Titus Cain: The Wander, the Outcast, the Secret Keeper

Little can be agreed on when it comes to when it comes to Titus Cain. Some say that he takes orders from a higher power, others just think that he that there is a streak of Fenris about him, but what they can agree on is that not since the Great Father Azariah Vidya has there been a Librarian as skilled as Titus Cain.

His origins are unknown but what is known about his early life is that he was chartist's ship Fortunes Hand when it was attacked by Orks and it was there that he showed some connection to the warp. The ship was rescued by a Blackship fleet that was nearby and was taken upon the dread vessel. After surviving sanctioning he was taken to Terra to the Scholastia Psykana for training. It was here that he was selected by Father Librarian Archarius Ravenholm along with several others to undergo the blood trails for entry into the chapter.

He passed the blood trails and was inducted into the 10th company where he went onto perform such deeds and the assassination of Farseer Kelarus, breaking the siege shield of Benator III and the destruction of the orbital city at Kestarium that crippled a Chaos fleet. When his pysker powers were strong enough Titus was inducted into the chapter library. If there is one flaw with Titus then it is that he has a stubborn streak and an inability to follow orders.

These are usually orders that would have resulted in needless death as Titus through his centuries of war has come to respect and treasure life where he can, but this clashing with his commanders has meant that he has had to go on more than one penitence quest but he has seen more of humanity than any other space marine in memory.

But though he is rebellious when on the battlefield Titus unleashes his will upon the enemy there are none don't welcome his presence.

Special Rules: For They Shall Know No Fear, Chapter Tactics, the Secret Order Psykana

Master Pysker: Titus has truly incredible wells of power and his travels amongst the stars means that he has gained access to vast a vast array of knowledge and experience.

Titus knows all the librarian powers.

Fortress of Will: If Titus is known for one skill it is his innate ability to unleash his will as a protective barrier for himself and his colleagues. Over the years Titus has learnt to control it so well that it is second nature to him and has strength comparable to a storm shield.

Titus has a 3+ invulnerable save without the need to uses a psychic power and when casting the force dome power unit he's attached to have a 4+ invulnerable save.

Outcast: Titus is known for being a bit of a free spirit, which worries his brothers as they feel that he is very close to becoming a pawn to the powers of chaos.

Titus's influence causes all friendly models within 6" to suffer -1 LD. He also cannot join a unit under any circumstances.

Battle Scholar: As a Librarian of the Blood Ravens Titus has studied long and hard in understanding his foes, but his specialty lies in the ways of the Eldar and the Tau.

When battling against Eldar or Tau, Titus gains the preferred enemy universal special rule.

Duellist: Titus has a long history of being able to deal with enemy commanders or heroes.

Any attacks made by Titus in combat must be directed at independent or monstrous creatures first before he can attack anyone else.

Wargear

The Last Song: Inside the Sanctum Aracanium of the Ordo Psykana lies the Psykana Armourium where a range of force weapons lie. Some of these were taken from Eldar heroes while some were given by the Eldar as gifts, the last song is one such weapon. It is a force spear that was the last weapon to be crafted by the legendary bone singer Chal Tel'athewea which held within it the most potent runes known to the Eldar.

It is a force weapon that always wounds daemons on rolls of 2.

Upgrade Characters:

Thaddeus: May be purchased as an upgrade for an Assault Squad, Vangaurd Veteran Squad or Terminator assault squad

Recently promoted to Sergeant, Thaddeus has made a name for himself battling the feral Orks of Calderis and Typhon. Brash and idealistic, he leads his Assault Marines with undisguised enthusiasm. Thaddeus is a brawler at heart and enjoys jumping into a fight with an enemy that has taken cover. Cover means nothing when an Assault Marine drops in beside you. A native of Meridian, Thaddeus was an under city gang leader when Davian Thule himself recruited him to become a Blood Raven.

Special Rules:

Enthusiastic Leader: Thaddeus's past as gang leader on Meridian, while long since passed, has left him with a rather gung-ho fighting spirit. This is often a source of irritation to his more experienced fellow veteran. That being said the effectiveness of the squads under his command cannot be denied.

Thaddeus confers the Furious Charge special rule on to squad he commands (including himself). This does not affect independent characters joining the unit. He cannot however, use the leadership of any independent character that may join the unit he commands.

Death from the skies: Thaddeus enjoys the thrill of battle most when he can swoop down or teleport right into the heart of the battle.

He and the unit he commands have the heroic intervention special rule. (See Codex: Space Marines)

Cyrus: May be purchased as an upgrade for a Scout Squad

A veteran with a fearsome reputation, Cyrus has chosen to dedicate himself to training the initiates who serve as Blood Raven Scouts, honing them into full-fledged Space Marines. Cyrus favours subtle and unconventional tactics which are not always popular with his fellow Space Marines, but are essential to a Scout.

Few might admit the need for his cloak and dagger tactics, but they have brought victory in countless battles - most notably during the Genestealer outbreak on Victoria Primus. Cyrus takes a quiet pride in training young recruits, doing his best to downplay glory-seeking, and to impart the skills and mental toughness elite warriors need to survive in a hostile galaxy.

Cyrus leads a lightly armoured squad of Scouts and relies on stealth to gather intelligence. His squad can inflict massive damage with surprise attacks or at range, able to wield a number of weapons such as Sniper Rifles and explosives that pack a quick punch.

Cyrus is a man of few words even amongst those of his Chapter. They know him as an invisible killer and a relentless hunter, and that is enough.

Special Rules:

Unconventional Tactics: The methods of warfare are not always set in stone. Cyrus sets much stall by the opportunities available by the carrying of great quantities and variety of equipment. This he insists on when training those under his command.

All models in a scout squad commanded by Cyrus always carry a combat blade in addition to other wargear.

Element of Surprise: Cyrus is always quick to adopt new and innovative approaches to warfare. The Land Speeder Storm, while relatively untested, has already gained a staunch admirer.

A squad commanded by Cyrus may select a Land Speeder Storm as a Dedicated Transport.

Wargear:

Deathwatch ammo:

During his time serving with the Deathwatch, he won the admiration of the Ordo Xenos. The very ideas that had seen him unfavoured by his own chapter had resulted in his preferential treatment. He was heavily involved in the development of new weapons and tactics to combat the alien threat faced by the Imperium. To this end, he now carries experimental ammunition as field tests for the Ordo Xenos.

For each weapon with which Cyrus may be equipped, he may opt to fire in these modes instead of the standard firing mode. These are weapon specific and apply only when equipped with such a weapon (and only for Cyrus).

Weapon	Range	Strength	AP	Type
Bolt pistol	12"	-	5	Poisoned (2+), Pistol
Shotgun	12"	4	-	Assault 2, Blast
Bolter	24"	4	5	Rapid Fire, Rending, Pinning
Sniper rifle	36"	X	1	Heavy 1, Sniper

Avitus: May be purchased as an upgrade for a Devastator Squad

Avitus greatest weapon is his unmatched hatred for the enemy. He served with Davian Thule during the Dark Crusade, distinguishing himself during the assault against the treasonous Imperial Guard forces in Victory Bay. Many of his squad mates did not survive the fighting; something that forever changed Avitus and prompted vicious retribution. To this day, he sees Guardsmen as traitors and weaklings. Since Victory Bay, Avitus and his squad have wielded their weapons with a new fury. Rarely do they leave any survivors in their wake.

Special Rules:

Unyielding Determination: Such as anger that overtakes Avitus in battle, he is able to wield the mightiest of weapons with ease. Those under his command cannot fail to be affected by such sheer force of aggression.

Avitus and the squad under his command benefit from the relentless rule.

Utter Contempt: Due to his past when dealing with the Imperial Guard, Avitus sees them only as heretical cowards and he gains a burning hatred to see them destroyed.

When faced against an Imperial Guard army Avitus BS is increased to 6.

Focus Fire!: Such is Avitus' concentration when he is engaged in battle for prolonged periods of time that he will focus on an enemy unit until it is completely destroyed.

If Avitus continues to fire at the same unit (including vehicles and monstrous creatures) as he did in the previous turn his BS will continue to increase by one (to a maximum of 10) each turn until that unit is destroyed.

Tarkus: May be purchased as an upgrade for a Tactical Squad or Sterngurad squad

Tarkus is a veteran of centuries of campaigning, and is renowned for his calm under fire. He leads his Tactical Marines into combat with confidence and a steely demeanour. Rarely angered by anything, Tarkus is a rock-solid second-in-command and an expert tactician.

Tarkus earned Terminator Honours during the assault on the Catacombs of Kronus, fighting alongside Davian Thule against the dreaded Necrons. He and his squad repelled wave after wave of the robotic horrors while Captain Thule planted the explosive which would end the Necron threat to the planet.

Special Rules:

Experienced Tactician:

The experience of Tarkus can rival that of some of the Captain of the Blood Ravens; indeed he is thought to be the next Captain-in-waiting. In addition, the tactical understanding that such experience has given him, combined with a natural affinity for such matters and an unworried disposition, make him master of squad tactics on the battle field.

A squad commanded by Tarkus may choose to pass or fail any leadership based test. This applies even if an independent character has joined the squad.

Standard Forces:

Librarian Aspirants Squad:

Special Rules:

Latent Pysker Squad: As aspiring members of the chapter's library, they are banded together under the gaze of an experienced Librarian. In battle, they can unleash this Psychic potential under their master's watchful eye.

The entire squad count as latent psykers, and follow that special rule. Note that it will affect all members of the squad in the same turn and may still only be declared once. If a Perils of the Warp attack is rolled (even after a re-roll if appropriate) then every model in the squad must take armour save or receive a wound immediately.

Guidance and Tutelage: When serving in battle, individual aspirants will be invited by the librarian to attempt to use a psychic power in the manner in which they have been schooled. The librarian will concentrate his efforts on aiding the aspirant and on protecting him from the Warp.

The Librarian in the squad may cast a psychic power from any model in the squad for the purposes of Line of Sight. In addition, the psychic test may be re-rolled, the second result stands. If a 'Perils of the Warp' attack is rolled as the result of a psychic power, then one aspirant is immediately removed from play. Other librarians may not join this squad.

The Collective Mind: Though they do not possess the power of a fully stated librarian, the collective power of a group of psychic talents has the ability to match that of a low rank librarian. In battle they can unleash this collective force of their minds just as a librarian would.

The aspirants in the unit may choose 1 psychic power from Codex: Space Marines or Blood Raven psychic powers. As long as there are 5 or more aspirant models in the unit this power can be used once per turn but not in the same turn as the latent psyker ability power is used.

Librarian Dreadnought:

Special Rules:

Psychic resonance: The librarian entombed within the sarcophagus of the mighty dreadnought can use his power to integrate directly with the machines systems in a way that is not possible for non-psychic warriors.

The dreadnought ignores Crew Shake and Crew stunned results.

Unrivalled knowledge: The librarian is able to integrate directly with the tactical data networks and communication channels in which the Chapters vehicles operate. The librarian can use this in conjunction with a psychic link to other Librarians and Blood Ravens to aid them in reinforcement and positioning. While a Librarian Dreadnought is on the table, the Blood Raven player may re-roll one reserve roll per turn. In addition, any Blood Raven unit which Deep-strikes to an area with direct Line of Sight to a Librarian Dreadnought may re-roll the scatter and distance dice. The second result stands.

Remnant Psyker: Some remnant of the psychic power that once resided with the librarian remains within the armoured sarcophagus. While diminished, it is still a force to be reckoned with.

A Librarian Dreadnought is an epistolary psyker with LD value of 1.
